Co-op Minimum In Effect Monday

'Plan Not Mine,' Says Healy; Tells Of Past Success of Minimum Price

"A 20 cent minimum in the cafeteria is neither a new idea, nor is it my own," Jack Healy declared in a special statement to the Gater Tuesday.

Healy, the administrator of student affairs, said that a minimum plan had been successful other times in the past.

The announcement was made at a recent meting of the Board of Directors that the Co-op was losing $1,000 per month.

At that time Healy presented a plan for a 20 cent minimum during the two and one-half hour lunchtime peak of the cafeteria as a solution to the losses.

The 20 cent minimum will go into effect next Monday, operating during the peak cafeteria hours of 11 a.m. through 1:30 p.m.

OPEN MEETING

An open meeting of the Board of Control was held yesterday in the Rec Center to discuss the minimum price program, erroneously called the "Healy plan."

"A minimum price was in effect in the cafeteria in 1949," Healy said, "and it proved successful during the time it was in effect. It was taken off because the student board felt that it was no longer necessary."

Jack Anderson, student body treasurer, has questioned the statement that the 1949 success was due to the minimum price. He expressed the opinion that there might have been other factors involved, and that a complete study should be made of existing conditions before any action is taken.

STUDY MADE

In 1952, Healy said, a study was made of the cafeteria by professional consultants in the field of food service. One of the first recommendations at that time was that a minimum price such as the one now proposed be established and enforced.

Healy also commented upon some comparisons he had heard between the student cafeteria at State and the cafeterias at City College of San Francisco and at high schools.

"Because of the federal subsidy to high schools for their food service," he said, "the cost to the student is extremely low. No such subsidy exists for our cafeteria. A situation exists at City College in which the use of labor in connection with classes in institutional management makes the food available to the students at very low prices. Again, we have no such situation on this campus."

The cafeteria is owned and operated by the Associated Students. It is not, however, subsidized; the operation, as conducted, must pay for itself. "The cafeteria will not be a drain on students," Healy said, "if it is put on a self-supporting basis. However, if it continues to run in the red, it would be necessary for the student body to put money into the operation that would ordinarily go into other student activities."

The minimum plan, Healy said, is intended to discourage students from using the Co-op as a lounge. "Congestion during peak periods," he said, "probably accounts for a large part of the losses, and the congestion is caused by students using the facilities for a meeting place for coffee and conversation."

STUDENT NEGLIGENCE

Healy also emphasized another reason for the losses: student negligence. Many dollars are lost, he said, when students walk off with cups and silverware, and when they lean back in chairs, weakening and eventually breaking them. "Sloppiness, especially during the noon hours, requires additional help for cleaning up, and hence, more costs."

"The success or failure of the plan will depend upon the amount of cooperation that we can get from all the students," he added.—D.T.

Two Members-at-Large Resign ASSFSC Board

The resignations of two Representatives at Large, both under 32 units, have been accepted by the Board of Directors, according to Cec Riley, student body president. The members resigning are Paul Coleman and Dick McElroy.

Coleman resigned to enroll in U.S.F. and is replaced by Bob Long. McElroy quit the position to enter the Air Force, but no official replacement has been made, according to Riley.

Miss Sugar 'Out of Her Misery'

By BOB HORN

Miss Sugar is dead.

The small moocher, adopted as the unofficial mascot of the students, died in the S.P.C.A. shelter a few days ago as an unclaimed pet. She installed herself as a member of the campus almost a year ago.

Although her exact age is unknown, her chief occupation was that of bumming, and eating, an incredible quantity of food and coffee from students. She received her name because of her demand that her coffee have at least two lumps of sugar.

MISS SUGAR'S ILLNESS

Shortly before the end of the fall semester, Miss Sugar became ill. She was taken to the S.P.C.A. shelter and remained there until she became well enough to go home. A collection was taken among the students to raise the money for Miss Sugar's hospital bill. More than enough was donated.

PIGEON MOURNS

Beverly Hepner, a student, adopted Miss Sugar after her illness. Miss Sugar jumped from Miss Hepner's car one day and disappeared into the "asphalt jungle." After searching in vain for the pet, Miss Hepner went to the S.P.C.A. shelter, where she learned that Miss Sugar had already been put to death.

Miss Sugar is survived by a pigeon acquaintance who lives near the snack bar, and numerous friends throughout the campus. She has no known offspring.

CAA Exec Committee Asks Student Vote on Question

I.F.S.C. VOTES TO 'GO NATIONAL'

The right to "go national" was favored by the representatives of 12 groups at an Inter Fraternity-Sorority Council meeting which took place last Tuesday night.

Jack Van Noy was elected president of the council earlier in the evening.

Also recommended were changes in the present constitution in regard to new pledges. The changes included: transfer students must have at least one year's residence at San Francisco and a 1.0 grade average. No changes will be effective until they are passed by constitution committee of the C.A.A.

Famed Composer, Partch, Speaks on Creative Music

The internationally famous—although not universally accepted—Harry Partch will speak on his theories of creative music at San Francisco State, it was announced last week by the Humanities division.

A composer writing in a unique 43-tone scale, Partch feels that our present do-re-mi scale is inadequate for full reproduction of music. For his microtonal scale, he has constructed his own instruments, four of which will be utilized in his lectures.

The lectures will be sponsored by the Humanities division, Dr. Jordan Churchill announced this week. They will be held April 22, at 11 a.m. and 12 noon in Frederic Burk auditorium.

Churchill said of Partch, "We have a great deal of interest in the way he has formed his own theories and then gone ahead with them. I think it is very exciting music."

Sigma Beta 'Folk Dance' Is Tonight

An entire evening of folk dancing will start the spring activities of the Sigma Beta Music club, in the rec center of the old campus Friday, February 27. The dance will be from 8 to 12 p.m.

The uniform for the evening will be cotton and jeans. The price will be 50 cents stag and 75 cents for couples. Refreshments in the form of popcorn, apples, cokes and cider, will be sold at the dance.

All of those interested in folk dancing are invited to the affair, according to Rudy Leeman, president of the organization.

Tri-O Expected to be Test Case in Campus Squabble

An organization move to push national fraternities and sororities on campus gained momentum last week.

The Executive committee of the Club Advisory Association moved last Tuesday to recommend their main body to (1) petition to the Board of Directors for a special student vote on the question, and (2) set up within the C.A.A. a special committee to study pros and cons of "going national."

Previously the Inter-Fraternity-Sorority council voted overwhelmingly in favor of the "right" to nationalize the fraternity system.

When questioned on the reasoning behind the move, Hal Grant, member of the Executive committee and chief proponent of nationalization, said "In the interests of the betterment of the college, our feeling is that nationalization will help the students in housing, school spirit, and in several other ways."

SPACE RESERVED

He enlarged upon the housing problem, saying that space has been set aside by building magnate Henry Doelger for the construction of national fraternity and sorority houses near the new campus. "This would allow students from the East Bay and down the peninsula opportunity for housing at the new campus," he said.

The initial test case is expected to originate with Grant's Tri-Omega fraternity, which wishes a national tie-up with Kappa Sigma Kappa. Tri-O will accordingly have to follow the usual procedude to get its new constitution approved, involving four possible steps.

First, the C.A.A. constitution committee must rule on the constitution of the fraternity desiring a national hookup. If it is approved, or if there is reason for an appeal, the constitution

Fair Highlights Gala Attractions

Stars of Radio, Screen, And Stage To Participate

Plans for the State Fair to be held May 7, 8, and 9 at the new campus are nearing completion, announced Bert Phillips, Activities commissioner.

Marching units and celebrities will highlight a parade, going from the old campus to the new campus and kicking off the annual celebration. Drill teams from the 19th WAF squadron, the University of California's Naval R.O.T.C., and the San Francisco State Air Force R.O.T.C. have already accepted invitations to appear in the parade. Letters have been sent to 50 other organizations, and many of them are now considering it, Phillips said.

In addition, invitations were sent to many stars of stage, screen, and radio, to appear at various intervals during the Fair. Edgar Bergen, Bing Crosby, Jack Benny, Bob Hope, and Betty Hutton were among the personalities listed by Phillips to whom letters have been sent.

Phillips stated that two water shows have offered to appear free of charge, but he is undecided which to choose, since both are considered excellent.

OFFICIAL COLLEGE NOTICES

All students who expect to receive credentials at the end of the current semester are required to make application in the Registrar's office not later than March 6, 1953. The application must be accompanied by two sets of fingerprint cards. Arrangements have been made for the fingerprints to be taken in Anderson Hall, room 210, from March 2 through March 6, from 2 to 4:30 p.m. Fingerprints will not be taken at any other time, so please make arrangements to complete this very necessary step at the scheduled times.

All eligible students who intend to take the Selective Service College Qualification test in 1953 should file applications at once for the April 23 administration, Selective Service National Headquarters advised today.

An application and a bulletin of information may be obtained at any Selective Service local board. Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application immediately and mail it in the special envelope provided. Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight, March 9, 1953. Early filing will be greatly to the student's advantage.

Results will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction for use in considering his deferment as a student, according to Educational Testing Service.

The Co-op: A New Solution

The "battle" over a 20 cent minimum in the student cafeteria seems to be a complex, but minor problem.

The Co-op will be in full operation for the remainder of this semester. After three months and the move to the new campus cafeteria, the problem will no longer exist. But three months, to the student body officials, means $3,000.

Proponents of the plan forget that a campus lounge site is essential to normal student life. Even the Co-op does not entirely fill the old campus void in this respect.

And opponents of the plan overlook the losses involved. The loudest voices heard against the minimum declare that the students are being deprived of their "rights" when the Co-op no longer may be used as a lounge, for two and a half hours of each day. But they forget that the student may be deprived of other activities which might be curtailed because of the cafeteria losses, which must be made up from the student body budget.

A widely overlooked solution is the possibility of additional lounging facilities on campus. The Rec Center, if properly furnished, could provide a reasonable place for "coffee and conversation." Tables and chairs are all the furnishings required, and coffee (and perhaps sandwiches or doughnuts) could be sold.

Maybe the cost would be prohibitive. But we doubt that these costs would in any way approach the loss—both in finance and in student favor—presented by either of the alternatives.

Grant's Tome
By HAL GRANT

"Should national fraternities and sororities be allowed at S.F. State?"

A proposed special election conducted by the C.A.A. may decide the fate of this issue in the immediate future. The interfraternity, inter-sorority council voted unanimously, last week, to support the establishment of national organizations on this campus. The council voted to recommend to the Board of Directors via the C.A.A. that the Club Advisory Association be allowed to conduct a special election on the question.

As it stands now, the service fraternities and sororities are the only organizations on campus which cannot go national. All the others, interest, professional, religious and honorary can affiliate with national or regional groups if they desire.

This brings up the question of the value of fraternities. In the proper atmosphere fraternities have inestimable value. As this value is more social than anything else, and if the question of national affiliation does not enter in, a purely local frat can be as irresponsible as the largest of nationals.

But this is one of the talking points against nationalization at State. One of the really fine things about this college is the free and open society we have developed. Opponents of nationals greatly fear that the influence of the nationals would stifle the mobility now existing.

NEGATIVE ATTITUDE

This is essentially a negative attitude. Any group, regardless of affiliation, is composed of the people in it. And the people in any frat here at State would be State students "nurtured" in the State college environment.

Then there is the so-called problem of discrimination. Under the existing A.S.S.F.S.C. and C.A.A. regulations, any organization—of any kind—to come on campus must contain a non-discriminatory clause in its constitution. For a national or other affiliated group this clause must be in the national document also.

HOUSING

Then there is the problem of housing. No private housing, as fraternity housing would have to be, can be erected on the State owned campus. Fraternity housing would have to be off-campus. But building magnate Henry Doelger has tentatively set aside a plot of ground across from the new campus for just such a purpose. The construction of fraternity and sorority houses on this land would go a long way in helping solve the acute housing situation here at State. Students would not have to rely on the fond dream that someday, somewhere dormitories would be built for S.F. State students by the state of California.

No longer would San Francisco State be derisively called a "street car college."

Social Science Division Has Nationally Prominent Faculty

By DALE TUSSING

The San Francisco State college Social Science division boasts one of the most prominent and active faculties in the school—and in the nation.

Most of the Social Science faculty belong to the World Affairs Council Speakers Bureau, and are in heavy demand for speaking engagements.

Making the division famous as a group, several of the staff have undertaken recognition-attracting projects as individuals.

Dr. A. E. Treganza, for instance, is a nationally-famous anthropologist. His excavation and research work in nearby areas has attracted wide acclaim. A small portion of the products of his work can be seen in the display case in front of the anthropology office, CH 217.

Mr. Leo D. Cagan, an instructor in Government, is now on leave working as a research officer, division of public administration of the United Nations Secretariat. He was selected by the U.N. as a specialist in comparative government.

Dr. George Outland is prominent in Democratic Party politics. He served in the House of Representatives twice, in 1942 and in 1946. He managed the recent campaign of James Roosevelt for governor of California. In addition, he has appeared on nationwide broadcasts on Town Meeting of the Air and American Forum of the Air.

Professor Robert W. Tucker of international relations is now on leave as a specialist in international law at the Naval War college, Rhode Island.

Dr. Gerald White just completed research work at Harvard University under a post-doctoral fellowship. He now acts as editor of the Historian, the national history magazine.

Several members of the division are spreading the name of San Francisco State via the written word.

Dr. Leonard Ascher and Dr. Roy Cave are both on leave of absence preparing books on economics. Dr. Floyd Cave has just completed two books, one on American government, and the other on California state and local government.

Dr. Paul F. Ashby, Dr. George C. Feliz, and Dr. Louis Wasserman conducted tours of Eudope last summer.

Dr. George Gibson and Dr. Theodore Treutlein will conduct tours this summer of Europe and Asia respectively.

Students desiring information on these tours should see Dr. Gibson or Dr. Treutlein.

The division of Social Science offers majors in anthropology, economics, geography, government, history, international relations, sociology, and general social science. Also offered are curricula in social work and public administration.

The division's outstanding contribution to the school, in volume at any rate, is in the General Education program. Four courses, familiar to most students, compose 12 units of the G.E. block.

"These courses," Dr. Donald B. Castleberry, chairman of the division, said, "not only serve to acquaint the student with social science, politics, and economics, but they meet the California requirements for U. S. Constitution, U. S. history, and California state and local government."

"They are an orderly sequence of courses," he added. "Their purpose is to give a better understanding of our society, culture, and our role in international affairs."

Frats Pushing Fight to Go National, Request Vote

goes before the Board of Directors of the Associated Students. At this point the Deans' Committee, representing the faculty, is generally called in for consultation or approval.

LAST RESORT

The final appeal or request for approval rests with Dr. J. Paul Leonard, president of the college.

Every organization's constitution must adhere to the 10 point plan for campus groups agreed upon by the faculty and students, which bars, among other things, any sort of discriminatory clause.

Several authoritative sources, including Associate Dean of Students Dorothy Wells, have expressed doubts concerning both the value and the eventual success of the nationalization move.

FACULTY OPPOSED

Although the college records are hazy on the question, she stated that the move would not be in accordance with a faculty decision dating from 1939, which was definitely opposed to the establishment of a national fraternal system here.

At a meeting of the Deans' Committee last March, a similar proposal of former student body president, Don Johnson, was shelved with the suggestion that no such move be considered without a full discussion of the matter with faculty and students.

"The question concerns not only the students, but the entire college," said Dean Wells. "If this really represents a strong feeling in the student body," she added, "and they start polling, questionnaire-ing and so forth, I hope they do it in a very thorough way. Most students have only a surface idea on what national fraternities would mean. It should be an honest survey of the facts."—Lynn Ludlow.

VAN NOY APPOINTED

Jack Van Noy, a high freshman, was appointed last week to the Board of Directors upon the resignation of Dick McElroy, who has joined the armed services. Van Noy is now a member-at-large under 32 units.

In the Fall semester, the San Francisco State Symphonic Band played 22 public appearances, and performed for approximately 17,000 people, not including football games.

Foreign Students Need 'B' Average

Overseas students at San Francisco State are required by the Immigration office to maintain a "B" average, according to Miss Pat Wire of the Overseas Counsel.

The Overseas Counsel is an agency set up to counsel students entering State from overseas. The Counsel, headed by Dr. Hugh Baker, aids these students in preparing their schedules and advises them on any matters.

There are at State this semester approximately 250 overseas students from practically every country in the world, including students who were registered last semester.

Assimilation has not proven too difficult for the overseas students; they have been able to fit into the State way of life rather easily. Of course, some have difficulty with the language, especially in lecture classes, but with the aid of the Overseas Counsel, and patient instructors, this difficulty has not proven to be too much of a handicap.

Evidence of this fact can be seen in that the majority of overseas students equal, and in some cases surpass, the American students scholastically.

Drs. Hall and Stollberg Submit Articles for N.A.S.S.P. Bulletin

Dr. Arthur Hall and Dr. Robert Stollberg of the Natural Science Division, each wrote an article for the January 1953 Bulletin of the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

In his article, Dr. Hall argues for a closer integration between high-school science and mathematics.

Dr. Stollberg explores the role of the laboratory in secondary school science education, pointing out why laboratory education is due for a thorough re-examination and suggesting objectives for laboratory learning.

Civil Service Jobs Open

Starting salaries for four junior civil service classifications open to college seniors and graduates in specialized fields, have been increased 5 per cent.

The classes are junior oil and gas engineer, junior safety engineer, junior engineering geologist and junior landscape architect.

Applications may be obtained from the college placement officer or by writing the State personnel Board, 1015 L street, Sacramento.

Alpha Phi Gamma Will Sponsor a Creative-Critical Writing Club

A creative and critical writing club—as yet unnamed—will be sponsored this semester by Alpha Phi Gamma, national honorary co-ed journalism fraternity.

The crying need for such an organization, which would discuss and criticize the writings of its members, was emphasized by Dr. William De Clark, faculty adviser to the Gater and Franciscan. The group will hold its first meeting at the home of Laura Bottaro, 2342 North Point street, at 8:30 p.m. next Tuesday.

Alpha Phi Gamma also plans the sponsorship of a series of lectures and panels on subjects related to journalism.

New officers were elected. They include: Lynn Ludlow, president; Toni Smith, first vice president; Diane Heagerty, second vice president; Laura Bottaro, secretary; Jery Kilker, treasurer; Lenore Ricci, historian; Dale Tussing, bailiff. The faculty advisor is Dr. Wayne Britten.

Clothes Expert Comments On S.F. State Fashions

By HAL GRANT

What the "well-dressed" collegiate male wears about the campus these days is an interesting example of eye-searing phenomena. Strangely enough, these upstanding examples of sartorial gaudiness tend to gravitate into certain categories.

UNDERPROF—At the top of the fashion scale squats that rare bird who dresses enough like a full fledged professor to be mistaken for one.

Usual dress: conservative business suit, white shirt and tie, pipe and, of course, a most learned air.

MAGFAD—That literate individual who avidly reads Esquire and sundry other publications which inform what the stylish "rah-rah boy" wears while prowling around a Vassar dormitory.

Usual dress: hot and cold running bow ties, well polished shoes, tailored sport coats and (I'm naked without) one large pipe.

SMOOTHY—For all genuine smoothies there is only one style of dress. Adopting a sort of back-to - weird - nature philosophy, these campus casanovas waddle toward anything that will make them stand out like a gangrenous thumb.

Usual dress: khakies or greys, T-shirts or any other close fitting garment which doesn't hide the manly ripple of their muscles, thick soled shoes, Chronicle sporting green, and a goodly supply of spicy experiences.

AR-TEE—One of the most interesting specimens. Usually poor imitators of their favorite actors, announcers of music impresarios. Usual dress: clashing color schemes, suede shoes or some outlandish footwear, cigarette holders, clothes of a rather to say the least, odd cut and, naturally, an ethereal look about them.

I wonder who's kissing them now?

National Students Group Will Sponsor California Tour For State Student

A girl who has been in California a comparatively short time has probably seen more of it in an 11-day tour than most natives. She is Cesia de Vera Bugayong, who hails from Manila, Phillippine Islands.

A State student, she was a member of a party of foreign students, representing 24 nations and 14 California colleges and universities, which toured the industries and schools of the state from January 31 to February 10. The group was sponsored by the National Students association.

According to Miss Bugayong, the "United Nations on wheels" was given receptions in each city it visited, and was housed and fed in private homes. "The purpose of the trip," said Miss Bugayong, "was to teach the students more about the American way of life."

The entourage visited Richmond, Monterey, Carmel, Modesto, Sacramento, San Jose, Bakersfield, and Los Angeles. They were conducted through factories, newspapers, and historical missions. They visited various colleges which were on the itinerary, including San Francisco State.

A senior, Miss Bugayong is majoring in nursing education. She plans to do postgraduate work in the East and then go home to the Philippines. She has been at State for two and one-half years.

KRTG Inaugurates New Program Slate

KRTG, the college campus radio-TV station, has gotten its spring broadcasting activities underway with six editions of the news, heard hourly from ten until three o'clock.

The station also plans to bring to the listening students the latest campus news in addition to the latest world news from the United Press teletype.

To keep KRTG abreast with the latest campus happenings, a new post was created on the Board of Directors—News Directro. This director will acquire the news and then see that it is aired so for the casual listener.

For the first time in history anyone, interested in radio is invited to audition for all radio productions, in addition to being invited to attend Guild meetings. Many prospective apprentice members attended the last meeting and it was pointed out to all that applications for membership are now being accepted.

It was also announced that there would be four hours of entertainment broadcast to the lounge and cafeteria, instead of the three heard last fall.

Coach Boyle Has Pitchers

By LeROY PACINI

Coach Dick Boyle can walk in the sun once again. For the first time in the past couple of years, the former St. Mary's football great has a pitching staff. As Coach Boyle related his story he had a gleam in his eye.

No longer will he have to use catchers, infielders, outfielders, bat boys, in fact, anything but pitchers, to do the pitching for him. He can now use pitchers, and good ones.

Big, strong Joel Heckman, though only a freshman, could be the anchor of the pitching staff. As the amiable coach put it, "Heckman may not be around so long, since he'll probably sign a pro contract, but if I have him only a year, I'll be satisfied."

SOUTHPAW "SLEEPER"

Of course, the fast balling right hander will have to fight for his job. A slight left hander from City College by the name of Jerry Pandolfi, who could be the "sleeper" of the squad, may fill the bill. A little more confidence could do it.

Then there is Stan Fabiani, a junior who was converted from a catcher last season. With that year of experience behind him, he could be rough. Another candidate for pitching honors is Roger Martin, a southpaw control artist who could have been outstanding last year had he not had to work. This year he has quit his job and is going all out to try and capture a starting post. Martin is a junior.

AND YET MORE

A smooth working lefty, Roy Camozzi, could be another "sleeper." Camozzi is also a junior. The boy that will probably be behind the mask handling this promising staff is Bob McCarthy. McCarthy is smart, experienced and a great all-around ball player. Sal Lenci, a big, rugged individual, will also see plenty of action behind the dish.

For the moment, Irish Steve Driscoll has the inside track at first base, but the slick fielding left-hander, who needs only to improve his hitting to become outstanding, will be pressed closely by several other good candidates.

A BASE BATTLE

Coming to the keystone sack, we find sophomore Louie Rossi and freshman Bob Quattrin waging a battle. The hustling Quattrin may be moved to third, if needed. Both Rossi and Quattrin will be pressed by some good "rooks."

Veteran Bob La Costa returns to the infield this year as a shortstop. La Costa turned in the best mound performance of the year last season, but Boyle feels he will be more valuable to the team as an infielder. Third base is wide open. However, if anybody has an edge, it could be Stan Korich.

PRAISE FOR NORM

Coach Boyle had nothing but praise for a boy named Norm Harris. The fleet-footed Harris has a great arm, and swinging from the port side of the plate, should get his share of base hits. Harris could well be the team's outstanding player.

Also in the outfield will probably be Rudy Rudomentcan and George Wehner. Paul Alabona, a fleet, powerful transfer from C. C.S.F., may also break into the outer gardens, along with several other good candidates.

Football Practice Signup Announced

Students who wish to sign up for spring football should see the registrar now if they wish to gain one unit credit allowed for participation in spring football practice. The course, for which enrollment cards must be filled out with Mr. Verducci, is P.E. 80.1-4.

In conformance with the Pacific Coast Conference regulations the Gators will limit spring practice to 20 days. The S. F. State squad will open drills Monday, April 27.

With the dissolution of the platoon system in football, many of the S.F. State veterans who formerly had been going only one way might be taught the fundamentals of playing both offense and defense.

State Whipped by Y.M.I. 'All-Stars', Take on Tigers in Season Closer

A weary S.F. State basketball squad will travel to Stockton tomorrow night to take on the C.O.P. Tigers in the closing game of the hoop season.

The Gators, who won over the College of Pacific team last Friday, will be attempting to recover from the 94-59 lacing administered at the hands of an all-star Y.M.I. aggregation, last Wednesday.

Possessors of a won two, lost 10 record, the Tigers have managed only to conquer the Cal Aggies for their sole wins this year. The C.O.P. squad is expected to finish dead last in the C.B.A. and should not trouble the Gators, but fans should look for an interesting contest.

In the Y.M.I. contest the Gators were never in the running from the opening whistle. They did manage to grab the lead for a short time as Charlie Miller boosted the S.F. State team into a 2-0 lead that was soon erradicated.

The Y.M.I. team, boasting former University of California stars Bob Walker and Mike O'Neil and many other former collegiate stars opened right up, getting off to a 26-8 first quarter margin.

The second period was played more on even terms as the Young Men's Institute squad only managed to outscore the Gators by a single point, 20-19. However the visitors were far from off their form as they hit on amazing 68 per cent of their shots from the floor in the first half to finish that period on top by a 46-27 count.

With a final half punctuated by the thud of falling bodies, the game opened up and tempers got short. Things quieted down somewhat, however, when Peterson, the big Y.M.I. center left the game in the fourth quarter. The unpleasantness began when the aforementioned Peterson bounced a ball off the head of Vic Gipson.

Al Desin of the Gators was high point man for the home team with 17 markers.

S.F. State Hoopmen Down Pacific Five

Breaking a seven game losing streak, the San Francisco State basketballers outhustled a hapless College of Pacific quintet 70-55 in the Gator gym last Friday night.

Highlighting the State offense Friday was forward Jim Mosely. Mosely, starting his first game this season, hit eight out of ten attempts from the floor. Six of these field goals were accomplished in the first period, contributing heavily to the Gator's initial bulge.

Tomorrow night Danny Farmer's boys take their 12-10 record to Stockton for a return engagement with the Tigers. C.O.P., doing their best to conceal a 2-19 win, loss record, will rely heavily on the efforts of stellar guard Gene Sosnick, who was responsible for 24 points in the first Gator-Tiger fray. Sosnick needs only 16 markers to break the all-time C.O.P. scoring record.

In winning their 12th contest of the dying season State displayed a brand of hustling ball uncommon to their recent style. The Gators capitalized on the weak Tiger defense. controlling the backboards for practically the entire contest.

San Francisco State boasts a total of 240 overseas students this semester, representing 38 countries, including the Fiji Islands and South Africa. Dr. Hugh C. Baker is their adviser in both academic and social problems.

Preview Wednesday Of Film on Philippines

A special preview of a documentary film, "The Philippines Today," will be presented at the new campus in room 101 to the Science building, on Wednesday, March 4, at 7:30 p.m.

Admission will be free, and all students, faculty members, and their friends are invited, announced Dr. Louis Wasserman.

The film is unique for two reasons. This will be the first public showing of the movie, and secondly, it was produced by a former San Francisco State student, Phil Walker.

The movie is in color without sound. It depicts the contrast between portions of the Philippines in which the people still live primitively as well as other sections where there are modern factories, educational systems, universal suffrage, and a government patterned after that of the U.S.

The film also shows some of the beautiful scenery and natural resources of the Philippines.

Walker is a traveler and lecturer. He is thoroughly acquainted with the peoples of the Philippines, New Guinea, and other Pacific Islands.

Music Federation Makes Comeback

The Music Federation, one of the largest and most popular campus organizations, is definitely not on its deathbead.

At least in the eyes of the emergency Board of Directors and in particular, its chairman, Milt Chantrey.

In a special interview made public last week, Chantrey emphasized that not only is the Music Fed surviving, it is recovering.

Chantrey admitted that the Fed has its troubles, but he quickly odded that they are "not what some people seem to think they are."

As for organization, Chantrey pointed out that the emergency Board of Directors was keeping things going until an election can be held. Until the election day, the Music Fed will not curtail any of its activities because of the lack of a permanent Board of Directors. In fact, their social calendar is being worked on now with a social event scheduled in the near future.

Chantrey closed the interview by saying that the Music Fed is not a thing of the past, but it is an organization with a great possible future.—S.M.

'A Sleep of Prisoners' Coming Drama Department Production

Rehearsals are now in full swing for "A Sleep of Prisoners," State's next major drama production.

"A Sleep of Prisoners," commissioned for the Festival of Britain in 1951, is playwright Christopher Fry's highly imaginative drama concerning four prisoners of war, locked in a church in enemy territory. Confined as they are, these prisoners struggle, in their dreams, to understand themselves and the world.

State's production of the play is under the joint direction of Dr. J. Fenton McKenna and Brad Aronson. Gary Hughes, Ted Samuel, Dion Chesse and Robert McClary play the roles of the prisoners in the four man cast.

Mr. Aronson, in order to achieve a greater unity of direction and staging, has designed the settings, lighting, and mounting, utilizing for his staging the main entrance and aisle of Frederic Burk auditorium.

Tickets will go on sale Wednesday, March 4, in the Drama box office, AA 11. Price of student tickets is 60 cents; general admission, 90 cents.

A Southern belle once said to me,
"I'd like to tell you-all
That I smoke Luckies 'cause they're free
And easy on the draw!"
Richard H. Levine
University of Vermont

Nothing-no, nothing-beats better taste

and LUCKIES TASTE BETTER!

Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

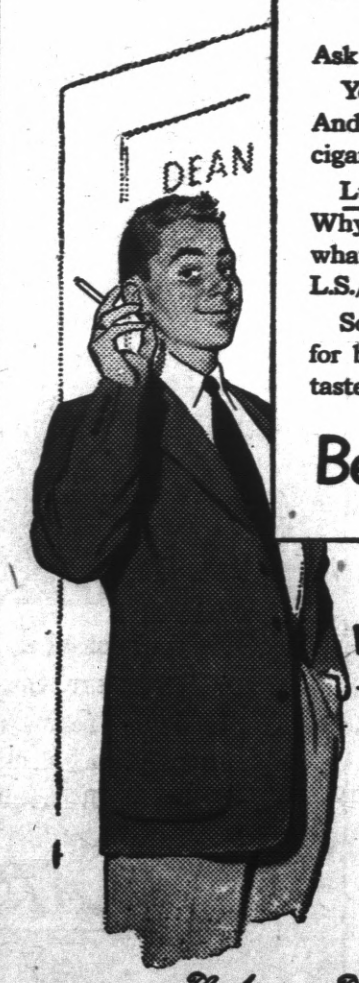
Ask yourself this question: Why do I smoke?

You know, yourself, you smoke for enjoyment. And you get enjoyment only from the taste of a cigarette.

Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother! Why? Luckies are made better to taste better. And, what's more, Luckies are made of fine tobacco. L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco.

So, for the thing you want most in a cigarette . . . for better taste—for the cleaner, fresher, smoother taste of Lucky Strike . . .

Be Happy-GO LUCKY!



I went to see the Registrar—
He sent me to the Dean.
The Dean said, "Son, smoke Lucky Strike—
They're Smooth! They're fresh! They're clean!"

In spelling class we get high grades
Because we plainly see
That better-tasting cigarettes
Spell L.S./M.F.T.

Where's your jingle?

It's easier than you think to make $25 by writing a Lucky Strike jingle like those you see in this ad. Yes, we need jingles—and we pay $25 for every one we use! So send as many as you like to: Happy-Go-Lucky, P. O. Box 67, New York 46, N.Y.
